The 29th National Real Estate Convention presents to you an unconventional way of looking at property. In the changing times, the old business models no longer hold. Airbnb is fast encroaching into the hotel industry, virtual offices and coworking model provides an alternative to traditional offices, traditional retailing is competing with online retail. One has to think outside the box and have a 180o change in looking at property in order to survive. The 29th NREC with the theme “Reengineering Property: Thinking Outside the Box” discusses how we should relook at property, be it investment, development or services. The 29th NREC is a certainly Convention not to be missed.
